ABSTRACT

This file provides a template for completing the article for the journal. The journal will be published at University of Oradea Publishing House. The manuscript in MS Word format will be written in accordance with the guidelines in this template. The author will not have to do anything, only to replace the headings and paragraphs without changing the format presented in this template. The entire article will be written in English (the abstract will have 150 - 300 words).

INTRODUCTION

It is preferable that authors to submit their article carefully written and checked. Materials submitted with spelling and grammar errors will not be accepted. They must present the results as concisely as possible.

MATERIAL AND METHOD

The article shall be written in such a way that its reading to be as smooth as possible. This can be achieved if you will strictly follow the format required through the present template. Please note the following details: this template is an MS Word file A4, with top and bottom of 4.5 cm, and the left and right margins of 4 cm. The Header and Footer is of 3.7 cm.

All the paragraphs should be written at single space, the first line having a paragraph (tab) of 1 cm. Position and character titles and subtitles will follow this template. Do not leave spaces between paragraphs.

By using this template, the margins, header and footer will be set automatically so that the author must only replace the authors' names and the paper title on the first page footer, using this template.

The article will be edited in Times New Roman (TNR) 12. The indices and exponents will be edited in TNR 10.

For the text inside the figures, it is recommended they should not be smaller than 10.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

The papers should include original data and they should be edited only in English, in Word, single spaced.

The figures and tables should be named so that there is no need to refer to that text of the article. They will be mentioned in the text between brackets (Fig. 1) or (Table 1). The figures and tables that are not cited in the text should not be presented in the article. The tables and figures will be introduced after they are mentioned in the text. All figures and tables will be numbered using Arabic numbers, as in this example. The name of the tables is edited above the table, with right alignment.
